Subject: {External}Pesticide and Chemigation Rule Changes

Hello, Mr Oakley.

Regarding the article in the July 3 issue of the Meridian Press, I, too, am concerned with the rollbacks. ISDA needs to ensure farm workers health and safety are paramount. Having redundant rules (as long as they are identical) between 3 different agencies only seems to me like it could benefit the farm workers to help ensure every agency is doing their part in keeping our workers safe. It's sad that such awful toxins need to be used at all; organic crops would be ideal. Until organic farming is the norm for Idaho, please do all you can to ensure the health and welfare of our very important farm workers.

Thank you.
