

From: Vic Mason
To: Janis Perry
Subject: FW: {External}License
Date: Tuesday, July 14, 2020 12:02:39 PM

Got this from Roger Batt.

He called and had questions if a private applicator would need to get their employees licensed with the new CA category. Explained to him that this category is for professional applicators, and will not affect private applicators and pesticide applications to their farms.

From: Victor Mason <vmasonii58@gmail.com>
Sent: Tuesday, July 14, 2020 12:00 PM
To: Vic Mason <Vic.Mason@ISDA.IDAHO.GOV>
Subject: {External}License

Hi Vic. It's Roger Batt again. If a farmer has a license to apply a miticide to Mint and one of their employees does the application under the new Rules do they have to get a Commercial Apprentice license to make that application? I saw that the Rules cover the AI category for Agricultural Insecticide/Fungicide applications.

Or is the Farm employee ok to apply the miticide under the farming operation's Private Applicator license? I just need to get this right in my mind.

Correct. If it is a grower with a Private applicators license. His employee does not need the CA category and can apply under his license as long as they trained to a handler under WPS. The CA category is for professional applicators.

This email was scanned by Bitdefender