

Bulk Hauler Exams Now Available at Metro Institute Testing Centers

The Idaho State Department of Agriculture (ISDA) Dairy Bureau is pleased to announce dairy bulk hauler qualifying exams will now be administered by Metro Institute Testing Center. Idaho's dairy processors employ hundreds of licensed bulk milk haulers that are responsible for transporting the millions of pounds of milk that are produced on Idaho dairies every day. To meet statutory and rule requirements, bulk haulers are required to pass a written exam within three days of their first milk pickup.

Historically, the exams to license a bulk milk hauler were administered by ISDA employees on an as-needed basis. Scheduling issues for renewal and new license exams occurred frequently due to ISDA staff availability. Bulk hauler exams are now available through Metro Institute to ensure Idaho's bulk haulers are no longer subject to scheduling challenges that impact business and commerce.

After registering online (see link below) prospective bulk haulers may choose to take the exam at any of Metro Institute's eight (8) testing centers located throughout Idaho. The test can also be taken using the remote testing option where the exam will be supervised by a virtual proctor using any video-enabled computer with an internet connection. Please note Metro Institute requires the "remote location" to meet several additional security requirements if candidates choose to take the exam remotely. Idaho bulk haulers can now complete testing and receive their licenses faster than ever before to meet all state and federal rating requirements.

Exams will be available any day of the work week. Bulk hauler licenses will continue to cost $25, with an additional $55 testing fee collected by Metro Institute. All fees must be paid at the time of the exam. ISDA will continue to offer in-person testing administered by ISDA employees on a limited basis. In-person testing will only be offered the first Tuesday of every month at the ISDA office in Twin Falls.
